Mr. Russell was Defence Minister during the more stirring period of the Maori War. He is a director of the Bank of New Zealand and of nearly all other prominent financial enterprises in New Zealand. Mr. Russell, on behalf of the last." Colony, arranged for the mail service with the Pacific Mail Company, under the contract which expired over a year ago. He spoke in the highest terms of approbation of the Alameda, and the courtesy and attention of Captain Morse and his officers. Mr. Russell was also favorably impressed with the progress Honolulu has made of late years.

Mrs. Florence Williams, historical reader arrived by the Alameda, and is staying at the Hotel. She comes well introduced, and gave successful readings on the passage down.

Musical Notes.

Mr. Hugo Gorlitz, advance agent for Miss Amy Sherwin, prima donna soprano, was a through passenger by the Alameda. Miss Sherwin, accompanied by Mr. John F. Rhodes, violinist, will be passengers by the Royal Mail steamer Mariposa, due here May 13th, en route to Sydney, and if the vessel arrives at a convenient time a concert will be given in the Hawaiian Opera House. Miss Sherwin is an Australian by birth, with a beautiful, clear soprano voice of high compass. She earned a distinguished reputation in the Colonies, but since then devoted several years to study in Europe. Messrs. J. E. Brown & Co. will manage the concert here.

ing both horses down on top of the Chinaman. The affair occurred just outside the gate of the prison. The Jailor, with four of the prisoners, went out and picked the men up and carried them played at the Makiki Recreation into the prison. Both were insensible. The Chinaman recovered in about half an hour, but Peterson never moved or awoke till he died on Tuesday morning. He was in such a precarious state that it a consequence was easily beaten. Quite was not deemed wise to remove him. He had every care and attendance from the Doctor and Sheriff. Every effort was made to restore consciousness, but to no effect. The remains were interred in the Anglican Church burying ground. The deceased was in the employment of Mr. W. H. Rickard, and the funeral was largely attended.

The Island Fruit Trade. The steamer Jesse H. Freeman, recently reported in this column as having been purchased in the East by a syndicate of fruit dealers of this port to trade between here and the Hawaiian Islands, will shortly leave Boston for this port. Instead of going from there to Philadelphia and loading there for San Pedro she will come here direct. She is now having passenger accommodations put in, and as soon as they are completed she will leave for this port in command of Captain Manson, well known as formerly Master of the clipper Young America. She will carry about 700 tons. Another one has been purchased in the East for the line, which will carry from 1,000 to 1,200 tons. J. N. Knowles is the manager of the new line in this city.-[S. F. Call, March 30th.

R. M. S. S. Alameda. The Oceanic Company's mail steamer Alameda arrived at 8 o'clock Saturday morning from San Francisco, after a run of 6 days, 16 hours, 7 minutes. She was detained in San Francisco one day waiting for the last consignment of the British mail. Sailed from San Francisco at 4:10 p. m. on the 9th; experienced heavy westerly gale the first forty hours; thence to port fine weather and moderate trades. She brought twenty-two cabin and seventeen steerage passengers for this port, and had and Miss Minnie Carroll of Sacramento, forty-four in transit for the Colonies. After taking in coal, passengers and the mails, the Alameda resumed her journey to the Colonies shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.
